This Python notebook builds an SVM classifier in sklearn to predict the intent of a question. The classifier predicts the two classes (labels) listed in the training set, given a question.